

DTI Chooses Gaston County Plant Location

Defense Technologies Inc. will locate in the former Carolina Mills plant in Ranlo, North Carolina. DTI's initial phase of operation will include 10,000 square feet of office for research and development. Also an additional 50,000 square feet of plant area is held in reserve for production

In September 2003 U.S. Rep. Sue Myrick announced DTI would receive 2.5 million from the House Defense Appropriations Bill for federal fiscal year 2004. The company's goal is to produce electronic circuit cards that would be installed in existing weapons systems used by the Department of Defense.

"The Carolina Mills facility is extremely well suited for the long term operational needs of DTI", said Bill Carlton-DTI Executive Vice President.
